HUGHES FOR STATE REFORMS.

WILL PROBE DEPARTMENTS AND ACT FEARLESSLY.

Benublican Candidate Speaks at Two Rousing Meetings in Kingston-Promises Full Investigation Into Every State Department -To-day's Meetings.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Oct. 22.-Charles E. Hughes began his third up-State tour with two speeches before enthusiastic audiences here to-night. In the Y. M. C. A. hall he addressed 1,000 people, mostly workingmen, and at the opera house he was greeted by a gathering of 1,500. The latter place was jammed, every available inch of space, even the window sills, being taken. Hundreds were packed into narrow quarters behind the scenes like so many figs in a box, and the candidate when he entered practically had to dig his way to the front of the platform. His hat was crushed by the mob and his coat nearly torn out of his arms. Mr. Hughes was struggling around on the stage for several seconds before the crowd realized that he was in the hall . Then he was greeted with a whoop that could be heard a quarter of a mile away. There were almost as many Democrats as Republicans at the rallies. Every reference by the candidate to the credit due to Demoerats who had participated in the legislative reforms the last year brought out a tremendous round of applause, and his declaration that this is no partisan campaign was received with an equal display of en-

Several Democrats sat on the platform at the opera house. One of thew was Everett Fowler, former chairman of the Democratic county committee. Mr. Hughes in both speeches defined what will be his attitude if elected toward the administration of the State departments and commissions. He had indicated what he would do in reference to the departments earlier in the campaign but not so fully or so forcefully as he did to-night.

Mr. Hearst criticised the Republican candidate on the point, declaring Mr. Hughes is not willing to make definite pledges or promises and that he is attempting to divert public attention from the real issues to Hearst's corporate activities. Mr. Hughes left no room for doubt to night as to how he stands. He declared that he would have an investigation of the State Banking Department, and that when the facts were ascertained he would act fearlessly but justly. He would see to it that the Insurance Department was run as the policyholdrs want it run and in the interest of the men who pay premiums. He promised that the Railroad Commission, the Gas Commission and the Department of Labor will be conducted justly in the interest of all the people or he will know why, and those who are responsible will pay the penalty.

Here is Mr. Hughes's Y. M. C. A. hall speech in part:

I have been recently in receipt of many communications asking me what I propose to do in regard to certain departments and work in commissions. I had supposed that I had made my position known in unmistakable ways. I had supposed I had stated without any possibility of mis-understanding what I propose to do. I had repeatedly stated that no departmental action, so far as I could prevent it, should be taken with reference to any interest except the public welfare. I have stated that I desired to have made an examination of matters in the departments that I should ascertain whether there was any wrong-doing, and fix the responsibility for it, no matter who stood in the way. When I say that, I mean it. [Applause.] We have for example the banking department. If I am elected Governor I pro-pose, as I have said, to have an examination my own, and when the facts are ascertained in a responsible way, I propose to deal with them justly and fearlessly, without malice toward any one, and solely in the interest of the people. [Applause.] We have an insurance department charged with great responsibilities in connection with a business which comes home to almost every one of us. The Insurance Department under the recent legislation has been charged with greater responsibilities than ever. I may pause here to say that the efforts to minimize the results of the insurance inevstigation, or the benefits rived from the legislation enacted in pursuance of the recommendations of the in-surance committee, cannot be successful surance committee, cannot be successful as long as the people of the State of New York have memories. [Applause.]

Now I propose that to the extent that in me lies the Insurance Department shall be conducted for the purpose of making effective those reforms and in the interest of the policyholders. Applause.] If any amendment is required for their further protection, if it appears that there is any part of the law which should be strengthened or in regard to which something should be done to make effective governmental supervision and control of that important business in the interest of the policyholders, then I am for that amendment and for that strengthening.

in other words we have not gone through the pain and travail of an insurance in-westigation to find that we have as a result a return to the conditions which we have deplored. We shall have the Insurance epartment managed as the policyholders the State want and have a right to have t managed. [Applause.]
We have a railroad commission which is vested with important powers of regula-tion and supervision of our great transporta-tion companies. It is my desire, and so far as in me lies it will be my aim, to see far as in me lies it will be my aim, to see to it that the commission executes the powers intrusted to it by the law and performs the duties imposed upon it, so that governmental regulation and control, in the just interest of all parties concerned, may be had in this State. [Applause.]

In other words, we want the law executed the government want whatever a mendment.

it is and we want whatever amendment the law is necessary to give the people atever supervision and control may be had to see to it that the public service cor-porations are public servants and that they do what they are bound to do in accordance with their charters and in consideration of the privileges which they have received.

[Applause.]

We have a Grand

We have a Gas Commission recently pro-vided under which an opportunity is given for the regulation of charges for the supplying of gas and electricity in the various com-munities of the State. To avoid the issuing securities without a proper basis of value the commission has been given the right to prohibit such issues by the requirement that every such issue should have their approval. It is a very important step on the part of the State when it undertakes the regulation of any important public service. It is vital to the interests of the people that that great power should be exercised fairly and that it should be exercised fearlessly and that no private interest should control it and that nothing should be done which truth and justice cannot approve. We want in this day of grace to recognize the fact that American citizenship is a bigger thing than membership in any party (tremendous applause); that the honor of the State is a more important thing than a mere party victory; that the question whether we shall do things in the right way and appeal to truth and judgment in our efforts to right wrong is a more important thing than whether a given name shall be inscribed upon an

We have in this country but one security and you may think that the Constitution our security. It is nothing but a bit sper. You may think that the statutes of paper. The man who strikes a blow at public State. I have been most gratified in going through the State to find the extent to which Democrats are supporting my candidacy. I am particularly glad in this community to recognize the fact that there are those loyal to Democratic principles who refuse loyal to Democratic principles who refuse to stultify themselves by following the Buffalo convention. The Buffalo conven-tion has had its natural consequence in situation, and vituperation has not vituperation, and vituperation has not won back those who were alienated by the methods of that convention. Mr. Hughes in his opera house speech

"The Democratic cockroaches and croton bugs in this campaign are not people with whom we are ashamed to associate.

The hisses of the crowd showed plainly enough what they thought of the epithets which Hearst applied to Judge Parker and other prominent Democrats. Mr. Hughes was caught in another jam at the close of the Opera House meeting. Hundreds rushed up to him to shake hands. Pickpockets were at work in the throng. One of Mr. Hughes's party grabbed his wallet just as it was leaving in an unfriendly hand and several losses were reported to the police. Some of the crooks were operating on the stege and within a few feet of the candidate.

Ar. Hughes was assured by Republicans and Democrats alike that Judge Parker's home county of Ulster will give him a cracking majority. Roosevelt carried it by 1,800. Democrats have predicted that Hughes will get over 2,500. The feeling among many of the Democrats is reflected in a letter which Ellis P. Long, a member of the county committee, sent to Mr. Hearst. The endence League had written to him asking for his support as a Democrat and soliciting a letter. Mr. Long sent back a sheet of paper with a picture at the top of a yellow kid holding his arms up appealingly to a balking donkey. Under the picture was this curt reply:

"In answer to your letter of October 18 ibilities in connection I send you this drawing in illustration of my feeling and the feeling of most Demo-of us. The Insurance crats in this vicinity."

But there was no crowd at the station and Benjamin B. Odell, Jr., was not visible to the naked eye. Mr. Hughes took dinner at the home of ex-Judge Severyn B. Sharp. The candidate is spending the night at the home of his uncle, Henry C. Connely, former State Senator.

Other speakers at to-night's meetings were Job Hedges and James Whipple of the State Fish, Forest and Game Commission. Mr. Hughes and his party will leave here at 7.45 o'clock in the morning over the Ulster and Delaware road. The candidate in the course of the day will stop at Middletown, Port Jervis, Hancock, Deposit and other small towns, winding up in Elmira at a night meeting.

BROOKLYN POLITICAL MUDDLE. Perfunctory Indorsements of Hearst Not Meant as a Slap at McCarren.

Following the example of the Democratic County Committee in Brooklyn, which a week ago gave the nomination of Mr. Hearst a perfunctory indorsement and then by a unanimous vote approved Senator McCarren's bitter denunciation of the candidate, the Assembly district organizations are going through the form of indorsing the State ticket, so as to preserve their regularity.

William A. Doyle, Michael E. Butler and Magistrate John Naumer, the leaders in Seventh, Twelfth and Seventeenth the Seventh, Twelfth and Seventeenth districts respectively, called at Democratic headquarters yesterday, to assure Senator McCarren that there was no foundation for the report that they were plotting with the Independence League people to start a fresh revolt against his leadership. The Executive Committee of the Kings County organization is not going to take any part whatever toward advancing the canvass of Mr. Hearst, all its efforts being in forwarding the interests of its judiciary

Sheriff Michael J. Flaherty, who was the leader of the so-called True Democracy in its recent unsuccessful fight at the primaries against Senator McCarren, has hired Prospect Hall for a Hearst ratification meeting next Friday night and he expects to have Bourke Cockran as the chief speaker.

Unless the Course Say Otherwise or He Fails on a Technical Point-Charges of Fraud in League Petitions-The Board's Day Lasts Far Past Midnight

The Board of Elections decided yesterday that the Independence League, incorporated by William R. Hearst, owns the emblem of the scales and that only those candidates who have been nominated with the sanction of Mr. Hearst's board of directors at the Gilsey House can get their ames under that emblem on the ballot.

This decision was rendered on a protest filed by the league against the petition of Francis Burton Harrison, who was nominated by Tammany Hall for Congress in the Sixteenth district, and who also filed a petition nominating him as a league candidate. He got in this petition before Harry B. Davien got one in with the sanction of the incorporated league. As some thirty or forty cases hinged on this decision it was agreed by counsel that the decision should

It was understood, too, that whichever side lost should take the matter to the courts, and it will be brought into the Supreme Court this afternoon on a motion by the Tammany lawyers. The case will be argued and the decision will be taken to the Appellate Division on Thursday. As it stands the league corporation elects in nearly every Congress, Senate and Assembly district in this county, whether it is for the Tammany candidate or for the man who thought he was the league candidate.

The board having rendered this decision and a few others, set to work to hear and decide protests According to the law all such decisions on protests had to be made yesterday. It was found necessary to rolong the official day by stopping the clock before midnight All decisions will be ready before the courts open this morning, however, and many disputed cases will be ta en there.

Late yesterday afternoon the Judiciary Nominators were heard Lawyer Charles S. Jones showed how three sets of independent petitions had been filed on October 17, the last day for filing such petitions At 3:45 in the afternoon there was one petition for all the Democratic candidates except Brady and McAvoy for whom Breen and Rosalsky were substituted. This petition had been declared regular. At 7:51 P. M. the declination of Breen was filed This was followed later by a petition for I rady and then by another petition for all the Democratic nominees. All these petitions were in the name of the Independence League. Mr. Jones argued that as Breen had withdrawn after the regular petition had been filed the only way to fill the vacancy was for the committee to substitute a name. Brady's name could not be substituted under the scales by a new petition. A petition made him an independent candidate.

Melvin G. Palliser said that the league had found out that it had done Brady, who has Haffen's votes in The Bronx, an injustice and that after the withdrawal of Breen's name, rather than have the committee fill the vacancy, another petition had been circulated. He submitted affidavits to show that Mr Brady was the choice of the directors of the Independence League. Decision was reserved. tition for all the Democratic candidates

One of the anausing scenes of the day was the protest of Senator Thomas F. Grady, the Tammany nominee in the Four-teenth district against Thomas Rock, the Republican and Independence League nominee. Senator Grady also had filed an Independence League nomination. nominee. Senator Grady also had filed an Independence League nomination. He pre-sented his own case and was allowed to talk three-quarters of an hour. In other cases the limit was three to five minutes. In a very melodramatic way the Senator who seated the Cassidy delegates at Buffalo and made it possible for Hearst to capture the Democratic convention protested the Democratic convention protested against "fraud falsity and forgery." He said that he intended to have the Rock brought to the attention of the petitions brought to the attention of the Grand Jury, as they were fraudulent on

There had been lots of protests and counter protests in the Sixteenth Congress. Twentieth Senate and Twenty-sixth Assembly districts, and yesterday afternoon there was almost a fight in which the Frawley followers and he league men were mixed up. Senator Frawley has protested against the petitions of Harry B. Davies in the Sixthe petitions of Harry B. Davies in the Sixteenth Congress, James A. Lyon in the Twentieth Senate and Samuel Greenberg in the Twenty-sixth Assembly, and Counsel Cohalan handed in several hundred affidavits to support his contentions. The board allowed the league men until 9 o'clock but a sixth to everying these affidavits, and board allowed the league men until o clock last night to examine these affidavits and file others, and President Voorhis left the Tammany affidavits in the care of Harry B. Davies. It looked like trouble and Davies wisely returned. All hands went before the board and tried to talk at once. President Voorhis said he had never heard of documents being taken out of the building and ordered the disputants to go to the clerk's office and examine them together. Two more policemen were sent for to keep order in the room.

A protest was made on behalf of William Willett, Jr., the Tammany nominee in the Fourteenth Congress district, against the petition of Charles E. Shober, the league nominee. D. N. Carvalho made affidavit that 934 out of the 1,359 signatures on this petition had been written by five men.

D. J. Riordan protested against the petition of Franklyn Quinby in the Eighth Congress district. The protest said that Quinby had only 918 names on the petition. Quinby in reply said that he had filed fifty-three sheets, but that six of these had been taken out of the petition and were missing. Similar charges were made by Gloster in the Eleventh Assembly district and by Benjamin Berger in the Twentysecond Assembly district about their petitions.

After the Hearst meeting was over and the theatres had let out a crowd of nearly 200 persons flocked to the board offices and piled into the little reception room. President Voorhis sent for six more policemen.

HEARST-MURPHY HIBELINGS. Ex-Justice Cohen Exposes the Nature of Their Judicial Tickets.

A meeting under the auspices of Judiciary Nominators was held last night at 3 West Forty-second street, one of the branch headquarters of the party whose emblem is the black triangle and whose motto is "Unbossed Judges." The small rooms were crowded with men who cheered enthusiastically while Henry W. Taft, brother of the present Secretary of War; ex-Justice William N. Cohen and Lawyer Wallace MacFarlane made speeches denouncing the judicial ticket selected by Hearst and Murphy.

Ex-Judge Cohen, who is a member of the executive committee of the Nominators, told the crowd how their ticket had been elected and compared the methods of the Nominators with those of Hearst and Murphy. He said in part:

What counts in this meeting is not so much what we speakers tell you, but what you will tell your fellow citizens whom we have not an opportunity to address This selection of ten new Judges is by far the most vital and important feature of this election. The professional politicians are hoping that the subject will go by default, but we hope that this time what they look on as the tail will wag the dog.

"To be selected as one of the Hearst Murphy candidates is looked on by many as equivalent to a certificate of election; and I may tell you that we nominators found it very difficult at first to get lawyers of high standing and character to use their names as candidates. Few of them deemed it an honor to sit on our Supreme Court bench as it is now constituted. But we finally drafted men of the highest char-acter and standing, and we have pressed them into service to redeem the bench There were and are no favorites among them. Over 200 men were considered by the committee, and when we had thrown out those we considered least fit, the balance were voted for by a secret ballot. There were 2,500 lawyers and 2,500 laymen among the nominators, and I ask you if you would the nominators, and I ask you if you would not rather abide by such a process of selection than by the Hearst-Murphy dicker.

"Murphy is true to Tammany Hall traditions, as expressed by Croker when he declared that Judges were expected to stand by the organization. So you must expect the selection of hirelings, and excepting only Justice Giegerich, the nominee of all parties, you find whom on the Murphy list? Erlanger. Sullivan's man; Platzek, Murphy's man; Brady, Haffen's man; Crain, Murphy's man, and Hendrick, Murphy's man and a district leader.

TIGER TO BROOKLYN AGAIN.

BOROUGH MUST BE CARRIED FOR HEARST, MURPHY'S ORDER.

McCarren's Opposition, According to the , Tammany Chief, Will De the Candidate More Good Than Harm-Over Here Murphy's Support Is to Do Good Also.

Charles F. Murphy is planning to "send the tiger across the Bridge" again. It was learned yesterday at Tammany Hall that since Senator McCarren, the leader of the Democratic organization in Brooklyn, had practically advised his followers to knife Hearst Mr. Murphy and W. J. Conners, the chairman of the Democratic State committee, have been devising means for neutralizing the effect of the stand which Mr. McCarren has taken against Hearst in Brooklyn. They have decided, for one thing, to send Tammany orators over to Brooklyn between now and election day. "Brooklyn must be carried for Hearst, said Mr. Murphy yesterday, "and it will be carried for Hearst if efforts which are to be made to offset the attempts to discredit Hearst over there succeed. "McCarren says that Brooklyn will not go for Hearst," it was suggested.

"Well, I say that Brooklyn will go Hearst, and it will be found that he wil have a large majority in Kings on election night," Mr. Murphy answered. "Then you don't think McCarren's in-fluence amounts to much in Brooklyn?" "I think it will do Hearst more good than harm to have the regular organization over there opposed to him," Mr. Mu phy

"Does the same argument hold good as to Tammany Hall in this borough?" Mr. Murphy was asked.
"No," he responded, "because the regular organization over here is for Hearst and is going to try and elect him."

"Don't you think that the old cry of the tiger crossing the bridge will be hurtful to Mr. Hearst?" it was asked. "Well, the last time the tiger crossed the bridge he made good, didn's he?" Mr. Mur-phy said.

ht the Gilsey House yesterday Max F.
Ihmsen said that the enthusiasm with which Hearst was received on his last trip up the State convinced him that the election of the State convinced him that the election of Mr. Hearst was certain. Some of the up-State managers of the Independence League candidate were at the Gilsey House and predicted that Mr. Hearst would carry the State by at least 75,000 plurality. When Mr. Ihmsen was asked if this forecast agreed with his view of the situation he replied: "I think that's far too modest, but I don't want to discuss figures at this stage of the campaign."

want to discuss figures at this stage of the campaign."

When Mr. Murphy was asked what he thought of the prophecies of the up-Staters he also dodged by answering: 'It's too early yet to talk about figures. Wait until the Saturday before election, when we will have finished our canvass, and then I may be able to guess pretty nearly what Mr. Hearst's plurality will be."

Mr. Murphy would not discuss the action of the Board of Elections in deciding that no Tammany district candidates could get their names under the scales without the Hearst corporation O. K.

"I'm not interested in that matter," Mr. Murphy said. "The contests before the Board of Elections are district contests, and whatever is the outcome of them the effect. whatever is the outcome of them the effect will not alter the determination of the Democratic organization to support Mr. Hearst and the rest of the State t'cket."

LABOR MEN FOR HUGHES. Iwenty Per Cent of the Democratic Vote

in Oneonta is Outspoken For Him. ONEONTA, N. Y., Oct. 22 .- Since the appearance of Mr. Hughes at Oneonta the steady disaffection from the Hearst ranks in Otsego county has become a stampede. On all sides are heard avowals from Democrats of lifelong standing that they had finally decided to drop out from the ranks of Mr. Hearst's adherents.

Particularly is this true among the union men and workmen employed in the Delaware and Hudson car shops and in other manufactories of Oneonta. Since early summer Mr. Hearst has been making strenuous efforts to capture this vote.

Paid agitators have circulated among them. Inflamatory literature, in which Mr. Hearst has been heralded as the righter of all wrongs known to mankind in general and the workingman in particular, ha been dumped upon them by the carload. Several letters from labor leaders personally interested in Mr. Hearst's success have been sent to the Central Federation of Unions requesting that body to formally indorse Hearst's candidacy, but all without avail. A careful canvase of the unions here shows swing to Hughes of about 20 per cent. of the Democratic vote, while practically all of the Republicans are standing true to their candidate. S. A. Disbrow, who for thirty-one years has been employed in the Delaware and Hudson car shops, in the Delaware and Hudson car shops, said this evening:

"I suppose I'm in a position to judge with considerable accuracy the feeling of my fellow employees as regards Mr. Hearst. From the beginning of the campaign Mr. Hearst has not been looked on with favor. by the Democratic workmen of Oneonta During the last two weeks they have begun by the Democratio workmen of Oneonta. During the last two weeks they have begun in ever increasing numbers to come out flatly against him, and since Mr. Hughes's speech I have heard many new instances of men who have declared that they would vote for the Republican candidate, as they regard Hearst as an insincere and dangerous man, and one who, while his promises were highly enticing, had proved by his actions to be at heart an enemy of labor and no true Democrat."

With the labor vote turned against him Mr. Hearst can find no consolation in the situation throughout the rest of Otsego county. Following the leadership of Charles C. Flaesch, who was at set time a Democratic candidate for District Attorney, fully two-thirds of the Democrats of the town of Unadilla have repudiated the Independence League candidate.

In Cooperstown the venerable Samuel L. Shaw, at one time part owner of the Albany Argus and for fifty-two years proprietor and editor of the Freeman's Journal, which he managed with such conspicuous success that upon his retirement three years ago he was presented with a silver loving cup by the citizens of Cooperstown as a testimonial to his public services, has refused to support Mr. Hearst. He said:

"I shall not vote for Mr. Hearst. He cannot claim to be a Democrat, either from his antecedents or the manner of his nomination, and I, as a lifelong Democrat, cannot support one who has persistently heaped unwarranted abuse upon my party. I shall on the party of the party of the support one who has persistently heaped unwarranted abuse upon my party. "Hearst is not a Democrat. I consider him a dangerous man and shall not vote."

him a dangerous man and shall not vote Almond Cramer, member of the county committee, while declining to say for whom he would vote, added:

"You may put me as saying that so far as I can see the Democratic party has no candidate of its own in the field this year for Governor." Steffen Teetel, a well known resident of Sloansville, said:

Sloansville, said:

"I am going to vote for a Republican Governor just once in my life. I am not deserting my party, for the real Democrat c party has been betrayed and has no candidate in the field.

Henry Wilcox of Oenonta also gave as his reason for voting for Mr. Hughes that he considered himself under no obligations to vote for Mr. Hearst, because Mr. Hearst was not a Democrat.

In Richfield Springs William P. Earle and Edgar Cary have headed a revolt against Mr. Hearst which will cost him many votes in that town.

in that town.

A canvass of the county shows few Republicans disloyal to Hughes, and a conservative estimate would seem to indicate that Otesso county will give about 2,000 majority for the head of the ticket.

CAMPAIGN LITHOGRAPHS SCARCE Strike Makes It Difficult to Get Them

Out-Denial of Settlement. William F. Long, president of Local No. 1 of New York and vicinity of the Lithographers' International Protective and Beneficial Association, said yesterday that campaign printing is being affected by the strike of the lithographers. In many cases where lithographs are wanted woodcuts have to be used. Theatrical companies on the road have to use woodcuts on the posters in many cases, because they cannot get lithographs in time. Long denied the reports of the employers that the strike is breaking up.

Father and Five Children Suffered for Two Years With Terrible Eczema - Home Remedies and Medicines Gave No Relief-Mother Expresses Joy at

Wonderful Cure by CUTICURA REMEDIES

"My husband and five children were all afflicted with eczems. They had it two years. We used all the home rem-edies we could hear of, without any edies we could hear of, without any relief, and then went to a physician and got medicine two different times, and it got worse. It affected us all over except head and hands. We saw Cuticura Remedies advertised and concluded to try them. So I sent for $1.00 worth, consisting of one cake of Cuticura Soap, one box of Ointment, and one vial of Pills, and we commenced to use them. I do not know how to express my joy I do not know how to express my joy in finding a cure, for two of my chil-dren were so bad that they have the brown scars on their bodies where they were sore. If it will be of any benefit to you, you can publish my letter with pleasure. Yours truly, Mrs. Maggie B. Hill, Stevens, Mason Co., W. Vs., June 12, 1905."

WIDOW OF 1812 VETERAN.

Mrs. Drustlia Morrell Celebrates the 102d Anniversary of Her Birth.

Mrs. Drusilla Morrell celebrated her 102d birthday anniversary at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Jennie Velzor, at 122 Adelphi street, Brooklyn, yesterday. During the morning she received a visit from the Rev. Dr. William J. Thompson of the Simpson Methodist Church, who gave her a bouquet. A number of her friends called and congratulated her during the afternoon. She was born in Woburn, Mass., on October 22; 1804. Her husband was Daniel Morrell, for many years the tollgate keeper at Coney Island and a veteran of the War of 1812.

For many years Mrs. Morrell has lived with her only daughter, Mrs. Velzor, whose daughter, Mrs. Annie Bock, and her thirteen-year-old daughter, Lillian, live at the same house. When Mrs. Morrell celebrated her 100th birthday she and her great-grand-daughter joined the Simpson Methodist Episoopal Church. Her hearing is not good and her health is not of the best, but at times she entertains her friends by telling them of the early days of Coney Island. was born in Woburn, Mass., on October 22,

LOTOS CLUB SOLD.

The Organization Will Not Have to Move for 18 Months, However.

The Lotos Club sold its club property at 556 Fifth avenue yesterday, to Jacob Neadles a real estate speculator, whose offices are at 9 William street, through the firm of Chambers & Veiller, real estate brokers, at 353 Fifth avenue. The price was $750,000, the minimum figure fixed by the club at a special meeting held last Thursday. The accepted bid, which was presented to the club a month ago by Chambers & Veiller. was the highest of several offers. Neadle purchased the property for himself for speculative purposes. The original price paid by the Lotos Club for the property in paid by the Lotos Club for the property in 1893 was $231,000.

The club will remain in its present quarters under lease for eighteen months. It is said that the location of the new club house will probably be on a side street. A present, however, the club has no site in view and will not take up the question for three months. Temporary quarters may be rented before a new building is erected.

GLANDERS SUSPECTED.

Case of Man Who Apparently Died of Erysipelas Turned Over to the Coroner.

An autopsy will be held at the Morgue to-day to determine what caused the death of John Sullivan, a stableman of 458 West Seventeenth street, which occurred last night in the erysipelas ward at Bellevue. It was made a Coroner's case at the request of the manager of the stable and a veterinary of the manager of the stable and a veterinary surgeon, who called at Bellevue, when they learned of Sullivan's death, and talked with Dr. Vanderhoff, head of the erysipelas ward. While no one connected with the case would talk openly, Sullivan's death is believed to have been caused by glanders contracted in the stable. It was said that several other men who worked in the same stable have died in the past few months, and half a dozen horses have been shot.
